Dear Idessa,

I enclose a copy of an obituary I wrote for E. D. Nixon last month, and a copy of the proof-sheets of an article that will be published in The Socialist next month. I have not forgotten you or our other old friends in Montgomery.

Our son Michael's wife Michelle had a baby girl on December 14. Her name is Rosaeen Leah Brubaker, and she likes lying on her grandpa's big belly. Our daughter Becky is pregnant also and will have hers, with luck, in October.

This is my 28th year of teaching, and it is getting harder and harder to do. Andy and I are thinking of getting a job teaching in China for a year or two. I have a leg that hurts me, and the doctors have not been successful in treating it so far, but I do not let that get me down.

In comradeship,
